

Novoy Animal Hospital
Feline Vaccination Consent Form

At Novoy Animal Hospital we believe your pet's vaccination needs should be tailored to their specific lifestyle. Core vaccinations, as established by the American Veterinary Medical Association and numerous other veterinary associations, are vaccines that all cats should receive.

Non-core vaccinations should be administered to your cat based on risk of exposure. As your medical team, we will tailor each of your pet's vaccination needs based on specific criteria. Please read and complete the form below so we may assess what vaccinations your cat needs.

Pet Name: _____ Owner's Name: _____

My Cat's Lifestyle Information (please "x" each box that applies)

- Is strictly indoor, never goes outside.
- Comes into contact with a cat who goes outdoors.
- Goes outdoors unsupervised, even for brief periods.
- Comes into contact with stray cats that I rescue or foster.
- Visits other people with cats, or goes with owner to pet stores.
- Goes to grooming or boarding facilities.

My Cat's Reactions To Vaccines or Medication (please "x" each box that applies)

- My cat has had a reaction or possible reaction to vaccines in the past. (Please describe)

- My cat has a known intolerance/reaction to medication(s). (Please list drug name and side effects)

* We administer aspirin (as an anti-inflammatory medication) with vaccinations in order to prevent inflammation and fever. Please let us know if your cat experiences vomiting or diarrhea following the vaccination visit.

Vaccination Protocols: (your veterinarian will circle recommendations)

Protocol A

Rabies Vaccine
FVRCP Vaccine

Protocol B

Rabies Vaccine
FVRCP Vaccine
Feline Leukemia Vaccine

We recommend a PureVax 1 year Rabies Vaccination due to it's decreased risk of causing localized sarcomas (skin cancers) at the vaccination site. (The 3 year Rabies Vaccination is still available at client's request only.)

FVRCP Vaccine can be given at 3 year intervals after all initial boosters are completed.

The American Association of Feline Practitioners highly recommends that all kittens receive two Feline Leukemia vaccines. Adult cats who venture outdoors, or are exposed to outdoor cats, should receive an annual Feline Leukemia vaccine. If your pet is overdue on this vaccine, or has never been given a Feline Leukemia vaccine, we highly recommend testing for the disease before vaccinating.

I have read and understand the above protocol recommended by my veterinarian.

I agree to notify my veterinarian if my pet's lifestyle changes.
